Council Seeks To Have Dentist Locate Here; To Oppose Efforts To Increase Milk Prices In Pass

Water Still Remains Pure;
To Curb Reckless Driving to Cyclists With Threat of Licensing.

Regular meeting of the council was held on Monday evening. Present Mayor Abousafy, Councillors Cox, Dutil, Lowe, Jenkins, Ramsay and Wilson.

Correspondence was received from the War Assets Corporation revealing that no fire trucks are available at the present time.

Correspondence was received from the Department of Public Works stating that the cleaning out of a section of the Nepe Creek was not its responsibility. Council will now discuss the matter with E. O. Duke, MLA, advising him that the Department saw fit to clean out the creek within the incorporated area of Blairmore and therefore should have no good reason for not doing the same for Coleman.

The Department of Health has granted council's request that it go 50-50 with council in paying S. Bettinger an annual fee of $80 for looking after the nuisance ground.

Secretary was authorized to purchase modern traffic buttons.

A letter of thanks was received from the local branch of the Canadian Red Cross by council for its co-operation during the recent visit of the Blood Clinic.

Latest water analysis reveals that the local drinking water supply still remains pure.

Correspondence from the Health League of Canada was received and filed. It asked that council sponsor a tag day in its behalf.

A circular letter was received from the Dental Association, a federal body, asking detailed information in view of locating a dentist here. A favorable report has been forwarded to the Association by the town secretary.

A letter was received from the Department of Municipal Affairs setting Coleman social services tax at $80.

A letter was received from the Board of Public Utility Commissioners drawing attention to the legal notice at present running in The Journal which states application has been made to the Board for permission to increase milk prices in the Crows' Nest Pass.

After some discussion council was unanimous in its decision to oppose this proposed increase and it was decided that town solicitor Sam Bannan be authorized to gather.

CLEAN UP CAMPAIGN

Citizens of Coleman are asked to clean all back yards and back alleys on or before, Saturday, June 9th, 1945. A police inspection will be made of all property after that date.

All ash cans must be kept in owner's yard.
Make our Town a Clean Town.

TOWN COUNCIL

Warning To Cyclists

As a result of complaints received by this council all cyclists must henceforth refrain from cycling on sidewalks, must use caution when coming onto main streets from secondary streets, must have lights and reflectors for night riding.

Failure to abide by these requests will result in serious consideration being given the question of licensing all bicycles within the Town of Coleman.

TOWN COUNCIL

PIPE BAND TOOK PART IN APPLE FESTIVAL

The Coleman Clan Donnachadh pipe band took part in the fourth annual Apple Blossom Carnival sponsored by the Lions club at Creston on May 18. There were various gala events, chief among them being the parade with its many decorated floats and the crowning of the Blossom Queen.

The huge crowd that thronged the carnival in the evening were again entertained with selections from the Coleman pipe band. During the whole celebration fine weather prevailed and the apple blossoms were out in all their pink and white beauty.

William Pryde Fatally Injured Monday Morning

Died Tuesday Evening While Enroute to Calgary in Ambulance; Inquest Wed. Evening.

Death came to William "Bill" Pryde, 52, at about 9 o'clock Tuesday evening between Macleod and Claresholm while enroute to a Calgary hospital in the local ambulance and accompanied by Dr. Haworth.

Deceased suffered a fractured neck while working in McGillivray mine on Monday morning. He was immediately rushed to the hospital where a cast was placed about the injured neck. On Tuesday afternoon his condition was seen to become progressively worse and it was decided to rush him to Calgary.

Young cyclists was reported by one councillor that a number make a bee line from high school down through the parking lot at the Grand Union into main street without thought of danger to themselves or motorists who may be driving on the street. On Saturday evening a visitor on Hillcrest was knocked down in the sidewalk by a cyclist.

There was too much cycling on the sidewalks and it had to be stopped.

Another councillor criticized the lack of lights on bicycles at night. It was decided to place an advertisement in The Journal cautioning cyclists against dangerous driving; must keep off the sidewalks; must have lights while riding at night, and failure to comply with council's request would result in serious consideration being given the question of licensing bicycles in town.

The town's Honor Roll will be finished soon, it now being in the hands of a local citizen who is busy printing the names on the roll.

Councillors Lowe and Wilson were appointed to the Sports Association committee.

LOCAL STORES TO BE CLOSED MAY 24

Citizens are warned that on Thursday, May 24, all stores will be closed.

Stores will remain open on Wednesday evening until 7:30.

Kerby Memorial Fund Concert, Calgary, On June 4

Mount Royal College will present on June 4, at Victoria Pavilion, the final symphony concert in Calgary under the distinguished conductorship of Jascha Galperin. Proceeds of the concert will go to the Kerby Memorial Fund. This memorial, in the form of a building dedicated to the memory of the late Dr. George W. Kerby, will increase the facilities of the college and add to its scope as a cultural centre for southern Alberta.

The people of southern Alberta are familiar with the superb orchestral performances under Mr. Galperin's direction, and will be sorry to hear he is leaving Calgary this summer. At this final appearance under his direction, a greatly augmented orchestra will present the following program:

Rossini, overture, "Barber of Seville"; Beethoven, "Symphony No. 5, in C Minor, 1st Movement;" Ponchielli, "Dance of the Hours;" Wieniawski, "Violin Concerto No. 2, 1st Movement;" Donald MacWilliams soloist; Beethoven, "Piano Concerto No. 3, in C Minor;" Mary Ella Coldwell soloist; Mozart, "Serenade in Four Movements," played by the string orchestra; Strauss, "Tales from the Vienna Woods;" waltz; Sibelius, "Tone Poem" and "Finlandia."

SOIL BEING HAULED TO SCHOOL GROUNDS

Two years ago at a ratepayers meeting it was suggested to the school board that a railing be extended to the south west end of the school grounds and then extended east to join up with the high school building. Following that, soil should be brought in to that portion of the school ground fenced in and a lawn planted.

A start was made to the fence, but war conditions made it impossible to get the necessary railing. However, on Tuesday many tons of soil was trucked to the school grounds and dumped. It is presumed that the school board will make the ground ready for seeding just as soon as the necessary railings are secured and installed in the concrete foundation, the latter having been laid last year.

IMPROVE DRAINAGE

A tractor was busy Tuesday morning on the street between the Empire hotel and the Pattison block levelling the ground and improving drainage in that area. Heretofore the water had drained up against Coleman garage and in other places had lain in large pools.

Evelyn Smith Won Musical Scholarship In Piano

Only Nine Years of Age and Has Taken Two Years' Musical Training; Toronto Conservatory of Music Offers Her Admittance.

Honor has come to nine-year-old Evelyn Smith, of the Kermaria Convent, Pincher Creek, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith, of Coleman, in the winning of a music scholarship in piano. Evelyn is also the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kroesing.

She has been taking music lessons for the past two years and shows outstanding musical ability. The Toronto Conservatory of Music has offered her admittance and has forwarded an application form for her signature.

This year she took examinations for grade 1 in piano.

Political Meetings To Hold Spotlight This Coming Week

C.C.F. to Sponsor Pass Meetings on Sunday, While Progressive-Conservatives Will Hold Meeting Next Wednesday Evening.

The five-cornered race in the Macleod constituency is beginning to warm up as each party tries to jockey for public favor, and what is more important, John Public's vote.

Starting this Sunday evening citizens should be given a fair idea what each party has to present.

At 8:30 Sunday evening in the Community hall, the CCF party will hold its first Coleman meeting, the principal speaker being A. L. Smith, KC, a candidate in the Calgary constituency, who will be heard along with Stanley Wyatt, candidate for the Progressive-Conservatives in the Macleod constituency.

Mr. Smith has been in Coleman on occasions as solicitor for the miners' union and is a most able speaker. It is noticed that local headquarters for the Labor-Progressive party, of whom William Arland, of Blairmore, is the standard bearer, has been set up in the quarters next to Coleman Cleaners.

It is learned that E. G. Hansell, Social Credit candidate, will be in Coleman on June 4, although his itinerary has not as yet been released.

To date nothing has been heard or seen of the Liberal candidate and it is not known whose Coleman agents are.

Large Delegation Meets Council In Effort To Force Issue On Coal Dust Nuisance

Committee of Eleven to Meet With Mine Officials; Ask That Some Definite Proof be Given That Nuisance Will be Eliminated.

On Monday evening the council chamber was quite comfortably filled when a delegation of 35 citizens, comprising housewives, merchants and miners' union representatives, met the council with the firm resolve to force an issue on the coal dust nuisance.

Most of the delegates were residents of main and second streets and they pointed out to council the suffering they have undergone from the ever present dust nuisance both in cleaning of home and damage to goods. They wanted concrete proof that something was being done to eliminate the dust nuisance and not just mere promises. Mayor Abousafy told of the conferences he and his council have had with the mine officials, of visits to Coleman by provincial sanitary engineer Menzies and of correspondence received by council on the eliminating of the dust nuisance.

It was agreed that council would seek a meeting with the mine officials on Wednesday evening (last night). A committee of eleven was chosen to attend this meeting, they being Mrs. F. Ambrose, Mrs. A. Holyk, Mrs. N. Celli, Mrs. W. Martland, Mrs. J. Root, Wm. White, Mack Stigler, Mayor Abousafy and Councillors Dutil and Lowe.

Large Audiences Attended High School Concert

Variety Program Fully Enjoyed by Pass Citizens; Students Delighted With Public Support.

The Coleman high school entertained capacity audiences in the Community hall on the nights of Thursday and Friday, May 17 and 18.

The program opened with two selections by the choir, "Diadem" and "Mighty Lake a Rose." Other selections presented by the choir and thoroughly enjoyed by the audience were "The Road to Mandalay," "The Vagabond," "Stouthearted Men" and "Gaudians jaetus."

Vocal solos were rendered by Shirley Hubert and Gordon Rogers.

The colorful costumes worn in the various folk dances added greatly to the gaiety of the dances.

Two numbers from "The Mikado" were sung by the choir. The Misses Yvonne Mataya, Millie Bubniak and Pauline Korchuska sang the famous "Three Little Maids." For this number the girls chose and "The Maids" were appropriately gowned in Japanese kimono.

The honored couple got over their surprise the party settled down to a real social evening with games and songs. The guests had made provision for a bountiful lunch which was served during late evening and at which the bridal couple were presented with a beautiful case of silver from those present.

The honor of making the presentation fell to Mrs. Rogers' father, Mr. Dave Gillespie, who, in a most appropriate address, wished the honored couple many years of happily married bliss.

The party concluded in the wee hours of the morning with everyone having had a most enjoyable time.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Rogers also take this opportunity of joining in the congratulations and wish them many more happy wedding anniversaries.

Use Solar Energy

Russian Scientists Make Solar Rays Serve National Economy

The Soviet Academy of Sciences has set up a special commission for investigating the uses of solar energy in industry. Soviet scientists have already designed numerous devices to make the solar rays serve the nation's economy.

The founder of Soviet hydroelectricity, Professor Weinberg, has built machinery for boiling water, for hot-houses, and for dehydrating vegetables and fruit. The first solar kitchen and solar reflectors for medical purposes have been constructed in Alma Ata, the capital of Soviet Kazakhstan, Central Asia. Solar baths and laundries have also proved a success.

In Turkmenia, baths are heated by solar installations on the roofs. In summer these installations raise the temperatures of water up to 80 or 90 degrees centigrade.

The first solar refrigerators have been tested. With the outside temperature at 10 degrees centigrade the refrigerators maintain a temperature of 2 degrees below zero. The sun's heat is now being used in this way in the Republics of Central Asia and the North Caucasus, on the Black Sea coast, and in the Southern Ukraine.

CLIMATE OF CHINA

The greater part of China lies within the temperate zone, but the climate is marked by a great range of temperature, from tropical heat in the south to Arctic conditions in the north according to seasons. The flora, forestry and fauna are allied to the climatic conditions.

THE RETURNED EXILES AND THEIR WORK

Memory selection: Ye shall seek me, and find me when ye shall search for me with all your heart. Jeremiah 29:13.

Lesson: Ezra; Nehemiah.

Devotional reading: Psalm 126.

NEHEMIAH 8:1 And all the people gathered themselves together as one man in the broad place that was before the water gate; and they spake unto Ezra the scribe to bring the book of the law of Moses, which Jehovah had commanded to Israel. And Ezra brought the prophecies brought the law before the assembly, before the old women, and all that could hear with understanding upon the first day of the seventh month. 3 And he read therein before the broad place that was before the water gate, and the moon was full midday, in the presence of the men and the women, and the ears of all the people were attentive unto the book of the law. 4 And Ezra the scribe stood upon a pulpit of wood, which they had made for the purpose.

5 And Ezra opened the book in the sight of all the people (for he was above all the people); and when he opened it, all the people stood up. And Ezra blessed Jehovah their God; and all the people answered Amen, Amen, with the lifting up of their hands; and they bowed their heads and worshipped Jehovah with their faces to the ground. 6 And Ezra the priest read from the book of God, instinctly, and they gave the sense so that they understood the reading.

12 And all the people went their way, and ate, and to drink, and to send portions, and to rejoice, because they had understood the words that were declared unto them. 9:1 Now in the twenty and fourth day of this month the children of Israel were assembled with fasting, with sackcloth, and with earth on them. 2 And the seed of Israel separated themselves from all foreigners, and stood and confessed their sins, and the iniquities of their fathers. 3 And they stood up in their place, and said in the words of Moses, when Jehovah the God, a fourth part of the day, and another fourth part, they confessed, and worshipped Jehovah their God.

Winston Churchill Was In Serious Plane Accident Some Years Ago

In the summer of 1919 Winston Churchill had his most serious plane crash accident. During an evening flight from Croydon, after a long day at the War Office, he was at the controls, and found the machine not responding. At no more than 90 feet above the ground it began to side-slip. It struck the ground with terrific force, its propeller and nose plunging into the earth and its left wing crumpling. Churchill was badly injured but was able to get out of the shattered fuselage and go to the aid of his companion, who was bleeding and senseless.

FUTURE FOR PALESTINE

Palestine is now the home of 1,035,151 inhabitants. The world wide Zionist movement is working on a project which would allow this ancient country to again become fertile and raise its population to between 6,000,000 and 7,000,000.

Since the beginning of the war, three Jewish rabbis serving with the U.S. and Canadian forces have been killed in action. Others have been wounded or taken prisoners.

Field Marshal Montgomery Wasted No Time Over German Surrender

The surrender of army, navy and air force of the number of about 1,000,000 men, together with all their equipment and impedimenta to Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, was one of the greatest events in all history, and the reports state that it was accomplished with extraordinary brevity.

Field Marshal Montgomery is the bishop of his diocese, but he is one of the toughest, most relentless hard-bitten soldiers the world has ever known. We relished the way he treated the German supplicants for surrender. He acted as if he was in a hurry to get on with his job and he had no time to waste on palaver. "What do you want?" he snapped when they appeared in his tent. When he said they would surrender if he would also take the German armies fighting on the Eastern front he replied: "No, certainly not . . . You have nothing to do with me. You go surrender to the Soviet commander. The subject is closed."

The Germans wanted some guarantees about the future. Monty speaks again: "No, I will not discuss what I propose to do in the future, nothing." Then he added: "If you do not agree, then I will go on with the war, and I will be delighted to do so. All your soldiers and civilians will be killed."

That was all. The Nazis could no more squeeze terms out of him than they could squeeze blood out of a stone. Less than five minutes after they met, talked and signed, Monty left the tent grinning. It was the end of a long, long trail that began near Cairo, ran through Libya and Tunisia, to Italy, back to England, across the Channel across France and into Germany itself.

No wonder he grinned.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

It is poor practice to apply putty to bare wood. A priming coat of paint applied to the wood first will make the putty adhere better, and it is not necessary for the paint to be thoroughly dry before the putty is applied. Painting over the putty after the job is done will help the filler to stay put.

Yellow flowers cause air disturbances which can be detected by a pilot flying above a field of them.

Health League presents TOPICS of VITAL INTEREST

SICKNESS CAUSE OF LOSS TO WORKERS

Of 9½ days' work lost by the average Canadian wage earner in a year, nine days is lost through sickness and non-industrial accidents and one-half day through occupational accidents.

This serves to emphasize the vital need for health service in industry and the Industrial Division of the Health League of Canada stresses this fact in an attractive 32-page booklet just issued.

The booklet tells of benefits which can be derived from industrial health programs, their cost and their objectives. Their operation is gone into in detail under the following headings:

Personnel required; part-time personnel; services; services provided to employees; physical examinations; duties of medical staff; control of absenteeism; dental and eye care; control of venereal diseases; detection of tuberculosis; placement of veterans; labor-management committees; dispensary equipment; food service for employees.

Also discussed are health services for smaller plants which employ 100 or less.

Part played by the Health League of Canada in the matter of industrial health is described—distribution of posters, leaflets and a monthly bulletin, and the holding of conferences to both employers and employees.

The booklet emphasizes that workers cannot be forced to take care of their health, but that through health education they can be induced to want to do so. A systematic campaign of education is bound to improve employees' health, reduce absenteeism and increase efficiency.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

For Women
There's Waiting

By MARCIA DAUGHTRY

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

The report was brought in to the general who, more diplomat than martinet, liked to handle such things personally. In effect, the field workers claimed that the area over which maneuvers for his corps were to be held had been provided by eager farmers. Much of the land was not under cultivation; it possessed the desired hillocks, streams, rocky terrains, it was inaccessible to the curios.

"There's just this one hitch-right?" he said to his aide.

"Yes, sir. It seems this farm wife—in the middle of the area—absolutely refuses to let us use this wooded section." He indicated a district on the contour map. "She's a mite of a woman. No bigger than this," flattening his palm some four feet ten inches above the floor—"and she has the prettiest head of snow-white hair I've ever seen. Also, she has a Springfield with which she can smash a bottle sitting on a fence post as far as from here to the next building."

The general measured the distance with his eyes. His eyebrows went up, and his lower lip pouted—a habit he had. "Maybe we should draft her," he said. Then, "I'll fly down and have a talk with her. Find out what her objections are, exactly. Did you notice whether she seemed to be much of a cook?"

The aide looked puzzled. "No, sir. I didn't notice."

"If you can get a woman to making doughnuts or cookies for a bunch of hungry boys—you've made an army convert," the general observed, chuckling.

There was a car waiting for him at the airport; it took him over an hour to reach the farm, which consisted of rolling hills where a herd of white-faced cattle, a thriving vegetable garden, a big red barn and a trig white house with a screened porch on three sides.

A cat and two dogs came to meet the general. The cat arched herself.

against his leg and the dogs showed an inclination to kiss his face. "What kind of guard duty is this?" he demanded gruffly, scratching behind their ears.

Not until he reached the door did the dogs set up a furor while the cat climbed the screen and clung there. A small woman, wearing a blue and white apron, came out on the porch. "I don't want anything," she said, her black eyebrows drawn together in a fierce scowl. "Be on your way before I give you a round for trespassing."

"I'm not selling anything. I simply want to talk to you."

"What kind of uniform you wearing? You another one of these army pests?"

He inhaled deeply of the aroma coming from the kitchen. "Fresh bread! It's been baked since I had a bite of new-baked bread!"

"If you think you can get around me by sweet-talking you've got another think-a-coming. Step lively, don't let all the flies in," she ordered. She poured milk into a tall tulip-shaped mug and handed it to the general, then she placed a pat of butter on a blue plate, added hot rolls and homemade grape jelly. "There," she said, bringing her lips tightly together, "that's better than you'll get in any officers' mess."

Between bites the general said, "I suppose you know I've come about using your grove during manœuvres?"

"I gave my answer to that young fellow the one with a mustache. I said 'No'."

"Why?"

"Because I don't believe in war."

"That's a fine crop of potatoes you have in your garden," the general observed munching with relish. "Did the plants come up just of their own accord?"

"I hope you know more about tactics than you do about vegetables," the woman snorted. "I planted them."

"So you have to plant them every season they just don't grow of themselves from year to year. Have any trouble with bugs?"

"Ever see a potato patch without its bugs? Sure I have to fight bugs. Sometimes I have web worms to contend with, too."

"Well, there it is," the general said calmly. "Liberty and individual dignity aren't hardy perennials. They have to be cultivated each new generation. About every twenty-five years the crop is threatened by a scourge of insects that have to be stamped out. I want to bring a couple of divisions of men in here to practice the stamping out process."

The little woman poured another glass of milk for the general. "You're a smart talker," she admitted, her voice husky. "If I say Yes, can I ride along in one of those armored cars I saw in the movies?"

"It's against the regulations, of course. Still in gratitude for the use of your land, I might arrange for you to take a ride Sunday before manœuvres start." He arose and shook hands. "Sunday, then, at ten."

The little woman watched the general's car kick up a cloud of dust on the road before she walked briskly back into her parlor. On the mantel were three pictures of men in uniform.

"You," she said to the eldest, "went off to the Philippines and left me with three children to bring up. And you, son, ran away and joined up to get to France. And you third-generation fire-eater, wouldn't let me rest until I let you go to Pensacola. For men there's excitement and change and novelty in this Army business. For women there's only waiting and loneliness and heart-hunger. But here's one woman to beat the game. I'm going to get some excitement out of this tracs by riding one of these Army bugs if it's the last thing I ever do."

"Hmn. I sure had to hold out a long time before I got together with the man who could fix it up. I certainly did."

Plenty For Some Distilled Water

Used For Car Batteries

A woman car-owner, allowed a small ration of petrol for work of national importance, bought some distilled water for topping up her batteries. The water was contained in two gin bottles, bearing the label of a well-known proprietary brand, and these she left lying on the back seat of her car while she went into another shop to make some purchases. When she came out the bottles were gone, and in their place was a slip of paper bearing this inscription, hastily scrawled in pencil: "Sorry but we really do need it." Pinned to this slip of paper was a £1 treasury note—Leeds Yorkshire Post.

Doorn Castle

Reporter Pays Visit To The Place Where The Kaiser Lived In Exile
(By Maurice Desjardins)

Doorn, Holland, is a little city of 5,000 and is one of the best known in the world, for here stands the stately "Huize Doorn" where the late Kaiser chopped and sawed wood in a slate roofed shed until he died here June 4, 1941.

Janitor Armand Labouchere, a Dutchman of French Huguenot descent, showed me through the palace grounds.

First we visited the famous woodshed, then the guest house, where two priceless Watteaus still hang in the crown prince's room. Across a moat on the right side of the castle squats a square mausoleum where the emperor's body lies in a red velvet coffin.

I was the first Allied war correspondent to visit the palace and probably the first newspaperman of all time, for Doorn was no tourist place but a haven of privacy.

The castle has not been lived in since the Kaiser's death, but every one of scores of expensive clocks there still keep exact time.

Labouchere, a retired Doorn policeman, ushered me into the reception hall where the furniture and Gothic tapestries are relics of the time of Frederick the Great.

The Nazis left Doorn alone during their occupation of the Netherlands, so a few officers visited here for the majority were afraid they'd be accused of making a pilgrimage to the Hohenzollern shrine.

There are bigger-than-life-size pictures of the Kaiser hanging in every room in the palace.

In the rooms are objects worth millions of dollars: rosewood bookshelves, a gilded studded suit of armor on marble chairs, Sesame vases and exquisite miniatures.

I also saw the emperor's desk and the boudoir he used to sit on while writing letters.

There is truly royal luxury in every apartment which leaves one gasping for breath.

Half a dozen good Mercedes-Benz limousines are standing in the garage in running order, to be used by no one knows who. Labouchere says even the Dutch government which appointed him to the janitor post has not decided who will be the next tenant of the "Huize Doorn".

Has Big Job

What Electricity Is Expected To Do On Big Bombers

Electricity aboard a big bomber is expected to perform the following tasks: Start the engines, change the propeller pitch, raise and lower the landing gear, open and close the bomb bay doors, manipulate the flaps and brakes, turn the bombsights, release the bombs, turn the gun turrets, compute the gunners sights, fire the guns, detect and identify ground units by radar waves and provide light and heat for the crew.

FOREST FIRE LOSS

The greatest loss occurring in forest fires is not destruction of mature trees, but the ruination of young growth, and charring of the forest floor, since much of the older timber still can be utilized.

An Evil Philosophy

New Flying Boat

The Lust For Military Power In Planning To Build Largest One Ever Produced In Britain

The Hitlerite foe has been defeated on the field of battle. But Hitlerism as an evil philosophy still remains to be exterminated. The war will have been in vain if Hitlerism survives Hitler.

It will be a long and difficult task after the last war, the people of the Allied world thought they had conquered what was then known as Prussian militarism when the German armies capitulated. "Prussian militarism" was a phrase which really denoted the German lust for power. It was not conquered.

Almost before the ink on the Treaty of Versailles was dry, the Germans were thinking of the next war for power. The Junkers, the intellectuals, the riff raff and the discontented began to lay plans. Then Hitler came on the scene, and in ten years had risen from an obscure malcontent to be the chancellor of Germany.

As soon as his real character was revealed, which was immediately after he came to power he became the focal centre for the apprehensions of free mankind. He began to suppress, then to begin to attack. He raved and ranted over the radio until his voice became the symbol of violence and fear. He is gone now, but it is well to remember that the real enemy was not this misfit, this essentially cheap rabble-rouser, but the ideas he represented.

Hiller called himself führer. But he was in fact the servant of the forces of evil in Germany which hoped to gain from what he offered. He talked of Aryanism, of blood and soil, of race purity, lebensraum and similar nonsensical conceptions. But his single aim was power, and his single goal the elevation of the German people to the rule of "master race".

It is this evil creed that has to be eliminated. There must be a purge of Germany. Far more drastic treatment of that nation which three times in a century has attempted world conquest is demanded than any yet receiving official approval. The blood and rubble that is now Germany must be cleansed for the last time. Ottawa Citizen.

End Was Appropriate

History Has Been Written In Disintegration Of Germany

This is as inglorious an end as history could write—but an appropriate end for a Government that was born in a beer hall, whose bible was written in a prison cell by a man found guilty of treason, a Government which operated without ideals and had as its fundamental purpose loot and murder. This disintegration we have witnessed cannot be distorted by another Goebbels. History has been written this time too plainly to be changed. Let the beginning of Nazism stand forever as a warning. Let its obscene end be remembered as a lesson.—New York Times.

ON BOTH SIDES

H. R. Knickerbocker, war correspondent, says that last time he was in Italy he dined with a group which included an Italian nobleman of some minor distinction. Eventually the conversation turned towards the course of the conflict. "But my dear fellow," said the Italian, who affected a British manner and accent, "you cannot possibly know as much about the war as we do. You see, we have been on both sides!"—Wall Street Journal.

 visiting Miss Pearl Kennedy, RN, of the local hospital staff, and was the house guest of Mr. and Mrs.
 E. R. Kennedy.

On Friday evening Miss Ken-

 he was the guest of honor at a social evening at the home of Mr.
 and Mrs. Kennedy who had invited a few friends to be present. The occasion also marked the sixteenth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy.

FO Cox left on Sunday morning's train for the west coast, where he will receive his discharge from the RCAF. He only recently returned from overseas, where he completed a tour of operations, having made 32 flights over various German targets.

He also received the good news that his brother "Corkey," also a Flight Officer in the RCAF, was released from a German prisoner-of-war camp after two years a prisoner.

 BLAIRMORE LOSES
 VALUED CITIZEN

The funeral of the late J. R.
 Smith, 65, business manager of the West Canadian Collieries, who died at Blairmore on Saturday, was held Monday afternoon from the United church of which he was a member. The remains were forwarded to Calgary for cremation.

The late Mr. Smith was born in England, and before coming to Blairmore with West Canadian in 1916, he was with the Canadian Pacific Steamship Lines running from the west coast and the Orient.

Mr. Smith was active in the affairs of the Crows' Nest branch of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy and was secretary of the branch at the time of his death. He was an enthusiastic golfer and attended most of the Crows' Nest golf tournaments. His acquaintances with mining men was extensive and his passing will be widely mourned. He was a member of Blairmore Masonic lodge, under whose auspices the funeral was held.

 Cigarette Fund Notes

Dear Sirs: Just a short note to let you know that I received your most welcome parcels of cigs of March 6 and also April 5 and I want to you to know I appreciated them very much and I want to thank you very much.

I understand that the cards of thanks that I have sent in acknowledgment to each parcel I have received from you have not been received, so I write this letter hoping it will reach you and let you know your cigs have always come regularly and if the cards didn't get back you can rest assured that it was through no fault of mine.

There is little more I can say now, except that with better news coming in every day I hope run high that I will soon be able to see you in person, at that time I can tell you more fully how much your parcels were appreciated; until next time I want to wish you and your organization the best of luck.—J. L. DeLaca.

Dear Sirs: Thanks once again for the cigarettes, which I received this morning. They were very well come as I am just back from an 11-day leave in Edinburgh and London.
 It was quite the place, believe me.
 Well, maybe now that this part of the war is over some of the boys will start coming home soon.
 Thanks again for the smokes, and those who are responsible for our getting them. Best of luck. — M.
 Cornett.

Dear Sirs: Thanks again for the 300 cigs which I received today.
 They have been coming through quite regularly and I always look forward to receiving them.

How were the VE celebrations back home? There wasn't much celebrating in this mud hole they call a camp, but the canteen managed to get us a case of English beer for each section, so that amounted to about seven quarts each, which was quite welcome, I believe me. It sounded like the war was still going on last night (May 8) though, because most of the boys were getting rid of "excess" ammunition and shooting up all the "Jerry" flares they could lay their hands to. There is one of his flares though that almost makes a fellow hit the ditch because it

"small business"
 ISN'T SO SMALL!

Ordinarily one Canadian in every six gainfully employed, earns his livelihood in a "small business." It may be a farm, a store or a lumber-yard; an architect's office or a service station. Taken together, these individual enterprises provide a very substantial part of Canada's total jobs—must continue to do so after the war.

During the years ahead many people who dropped small business for war reasons will want to return to their accustomed or new ways of making a living. Thus old businesses will be revived. Many new ones will be started by returned men and people now in war industries.
 The commercial banks will do their part to afford assurance that no sound credit requirement need be left unmet in the field of small business.

As such businesses grow, they create additional job openings; that has been the pattern of Canadian enterprises. Most large companies began in a small way.
 And practically all could name some bank which played a part in their growth by providing the loans they needed to finance their day-to-day operations.

Your bank stands ready to serve businesses, small or large, well established or just starting out. Banks do not initiate such businesses—but they do furnish necessary working capital and many other forms of banking service.

John Bracken—The Farmer

On the 11th of December, 1942, John Bracken stood in the Auditorium in Winnipeg before a great concourse of people. John Bracken—the Farmer—was accepting the leadership of a great resurgent people's party. In ringing tones he was speaking of "The People's Charter". And the soul-searching sincerity of this man of the soil, with his vision of Canada, of Canadians and the "world of plenty that lies within our grasp" was deeply moving.

Picture the background of this man—this moment. John Bracken, the farm boy, on his father's farm in Ontario, milking, haying, carrying in the wood, plowing... then young Bracken, honours student at the Ontario Agricultural College going to Manitoba as representative of the Department of Agriculture... on to Saskatchewan as Superintendent of Farmers' Institutes and Secretary of the Provincial Livestock Association... then, later, John Bracken, author, writing books about farms, farming, farmers...

And now years later, in Winnipeg, John Bracken, the farmer, is speaking of "the right of farmers and other primary producers to a fair share of the nation's income." Notice the simplicity of the language he uses, clear, concise—sincere.

"During the last decade," he is saying, "farm income fell to such a low average as to become of very great concern in our Canadian economy. It is the responsibility of the nation to see that this great inequity shall not be perpetuated."

Then, suddenly his voice rises, becomes even clearer, more incisive. "I may say quite frankly that if it had not been for that plank in your platform which provides for a square deal for agriculture, I would not be here."

Two years later, in Alliston, Ontario,—again the same simplicity, the moving sincerity.

"I am an agrarian," said John Bracken, "and I am a Canadian... who seeks to correct the major social injustice of our day—the unfairly small share of the national income that goes to farmers and farm women and farm workers." Then, with a statesman's enlargement of vision, he added, "When the injustice to the farmer is removed, the economy of Canada as a whole will be strengthened."

No one could be less parochial in his outlook—more deeply concerned with national welfare than John Bracken, the farmer who embarked twenty years ago on a career so successful as to be without precedent in contemporary political history within the British Commonwealth of Nations.

Liberal Working Plan for Full Post-War Employment...

For Veterans—$750,000,000 to get them started in good paying jobs in industry, on the land or business for themselves at each of them choose.

Housing—$400,000,000 to finance the biggest building scheme this country has ever known.

Family Allowances—$250,000,000 a year to lessen the burdens of parenthood and to equalize the opportunities of young Canadians for success and happiness.

Expert Credits—We've got to have experts if we want to get our jobs. Your Liberal Government has arranged to finance war-wrecked companies who will be good customers later.

Industrial Development Bank—Your Liberal Government has set up machinery to help enterprising Canadians develop new business.

Farm Loans—One man in every three in Canada wants to buy a farm. To help them get better equipment, your Liberal Government has arranged for banks to borrow the money they need for better working and living conditions.

Fair Prices—The Liberal Government's policy is that when farmers and fishermen prosper, so do other Canadians. It has therefore taken action to put a lid under the prices of farm and fishery products.

Reduction of Taxes—Your Liberal Government believes in jobs first. To this end, taxes will come down to free spending power.

These are just some of many steps in the Liberal Government's Working Plan to ensure full employment after the war. In addition, it has stimulated tremendous private savings in Victory Bonds and War Savings Certificates; put through Unemployment Insurance, set up a special Department of Reconstruction staffed by experts. In fact, all its policies are directed to the same end—a high and stable level of employment and income.

JOBS! Jobs with bright futures for the young men and women coming out of the Armed Services with the best part of their lives before them! Jobs for all! Jobs with big prospects and good, reliable money that will keep its buying power! After all the hard work, sacrifice and self-discipline which has brought us through the war, the people of this country have earned a brighter future in a better, juster, grander Canada than we have ever known!

LOOK how much Canadians have accomplished, here on the home front, even without the energy and initiative of all the vigorous young people now in uniform, and their zest for daring! What is there Canada can't do with them back on the home team? Why, with their help, we Canadians are headed full speed for the greatest period in our history!

THE all-important question today is the civilian staff-work and leadership which we call "government." The Liberals have a working plan. It's big and bold! Parts of it are outlined for your judgment in the left-hand column. It has been designed with the aid of the keenest minds in every phase of industry, agriculture, labour and learning. The plan will work. In fact it is already bringing results. It will continue to do so! The Liberals can tell you this with confidence because they have had successful experience in operating nationwide plans.

VOTE for your Liberal candidate. Make sure the team which made this plan for full employment shall see it through—and win the peace!

Winston Churchill

AS THE WAR IN EUROPE becomes a part of the past, certain personalities and events stand out clearly when we recall that long and desperate struggle. To the people of the Allied nations, and particularly to those of the British Empire, the figure of Winston Churchill will remain a symbol of the courage and determination which brought us to final victory. Long before it was generally realized that Nazi Germany was preparing to destroy the peace of the whole world, Mr. Churchill had foreseen what was to happen, and had warned the British people of this approaching danger. His warnings were not heeded at that time, but in May, 1940, when Germany had conquered almost all of Europe, and an invasion of Britain appeared imminent, he was called upon to lead the government.

When he took office, Mr. Churchill did not permit the serious situation caused by the fall of France and the evacuation of the British Army from Dunkirk, to alter his determination to continue the war against Germany. He declared that British policy would be "to wage war by sea, land and air with all our might and with all the strength that God can give us." This was the first of many stirring messages which inspired the people of the Empire and of all the freedom-loving nations, to have hope and faith that Germany would some day be defeated. Striking passages from his wartime speeches have been quoted so often that they might now be considered to be immortal, and there is no doubt but that these speeches will live on in English history and literature.

Leadership In World Affairs
Mr. Churchill inspired the people of Britain and of the Empire with courage and hope during what may have been the darkest hour in our history. In international affairs, his leadership has been equally wise and courageous. When Russia was attacked, he undertook to establish closer and more friendly relations between that country and his own. He likewise did much to strengthen Anglo-American relations, which are so important both in war and in peace. By his personal friendship with the leaders of Russia and the United States he helped greatly to foster the complete unity of purpose which was necessary to bring the enemy to the point of unconditional surrender. Without doubt Mr. Churchill will be as well known to future generations as he is to us today, for his great and gallant leadership during one of the darkest periods of history.

Kept In Caves

A Simple Solution

Britain's Art Treasures Will Soon Be On Display Again

Britain has begun to "unearth" her art treasures from their secret wartime hiding places. Soon they will be displayed again—their splendor untouched—in their old homes where they ignore precedents. Something throughout the country, says the London Daily Mail, Sir Kenneth Clark, Director of the National Gallery and Surveyor of the King's Pictures, has been to see them in caves in a Welsh mountainside. As big as parish churches and 300 feet below ground, Rembrandt's "Jewish Rabbi," Velazquez's "Venus and Cupid" (the Rokeby Venus), Titian's "Bacchus and Ariadne," Tintoretto's "Origin of the Milky Way" have remained undisturbed for more than five years. So, too, have Turner's "Bridge of Sighs" and his famous water colors and example of all the modern foreign schools, including Van Gogh, Gauguin, and Manet with hundreds of other priceless works.

A GENEROUS GIFT

Sir James Dunn, president of the Algoma Steel Corporation, Sault Ste. Marie, has turned over the property known as Cedarhurst to be converted into a convalescent home for returned soldiers. Cedarhurst is a beautiful property on the brow of the hill overlooking the expanse of the St. Mary's river.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q.—Am I allowed to increase the rent on my house? I have spent quite an amount of money on it or improvements.

A.—An expenditure for improvements amounts to not less than 10 per cent. of the assessed value of the accommodation, then a landlord is entitled to apply for a rental appraisal to increase the rent, however, to raise the rent without permission being first received from the Rentals Department of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Q.—Every time I buy meat I seem to pay a different price for exactly the same thing. Would you give me a list of ceiling prices for the various cuts?

A.—Every butcher is forced to display price charts in a prominent place so that all meat prices can be checked by the customer before purchasing. If charts on meat prices are not displayed, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board should be notified.

Q.—Will our graduating class be permitted to wear long gowns for the graduation exercises this June?

A.—At the present time the long gowns displayed in stores are to be prohibited. The services of members of religious orders, and the Board permitted the manufacture of long dresses, it would involve not only the one-and-a-quarter yards added to each dress, but the extra yards for the slip as well. The textile situation is increasingly serious.

Q.—Are visitors from the United States entitled to ration coupons?

A.—Visitors from the U.S. who receive temporary ration cards may obtain them on application to a local ration board, providing the visitors are going to remain in Canada five days or longer.

Please send me questions or general topics for the pamphlet "Consumers' News" or the Blue Book in which you keep track of your ceiling prices mentioning the name of this paper to the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province.

Home Decoration

Color Is An Important Item In Interior Work

Color is one of the most important phases of home decoration, and paint supplies the cheapest and best means of bringing color to a home. It was stressed by speakers at a series of McGill University lectures on "Building and Equipping a Home."

Color can be used to make a room look wider or narrower, higher or lower, small or more spacious at the desire of the occupier, said Edith Shuter, well-known Montreal interior decorator. Nevertheless, she stressed that home and fast colors regarding color and color combinations cannot be laid down, since colors that clever people might have special associations that depress others.

"Confidence in color comes with knowing just what it will do and how to make it do it," said Miss Shuter. "You will never have to sway away from a strong color, or a clear intense shade, if you know exactly how much of it to use, what use to it with, and what effect it will have on its surroundings."

Canada's Forest Wealth

Includes Principal Resources Of Softwoods Within The British Empire

Canada's forests cover an area of 12,200,000 square miles, or more than one-third of the total land area of the country. The accessible productive portion of the forests covers 430,000 square miles, and it is from this area that the whole output of pulpwood, pulpwood, fuelwood, and other primary products is obtained. About 340,000 square miles of forests, classified as productive but not at present accessible, form a reserve for the future when transportation systems may be more highly developed. By far the larger part of the world demand for wood is for softwood, or coniferous, species. Canada possesses the principal reserves of softwoods within the British Empire, and these include large supplies of the most desirable varieties spruces, Douglas, fir, western hemlock, western red cedar, and white, red and other pines. In addition, the eastern provinces furnish hardwoods such as birches, maples and elms, which are particularly useful for special purposes. ST. THOMAS TIMES-JOURNAL.

Vegetable Seeds

Canada Is Now Becoming An Important Exporter

Since the war began Canada has changed from an importer of vegetable seeds to a fairly substantial exporter. This has been due largely to the policy introduced early in the war by the Dominion Department of Agriculture under which selected growers have been encouraged by the assurance that the Agricultural Supplies Board would buy at a stated price all surplus that could not be sold through normal Canadian channels. The different services of the Department have given practical assistance and co-operation to the growers.

Last year production of various kinds of vegetable seeds in Canada was not only sufficient to meet all domestic requirements but to allow in the 12 months ended March 31, 1945, two million pounds of 13 kinds to be exported, with a value of $1,000,000. Shipments of Canadian produced vegetable seeds of notable vitality were made to Britain, Russia, Holland and to UNRRA, or Military Relief.

Mystery Of Iodine

Only Perfect Germicide Yet Kills Animals

So important is iodine as a healer, food and germicide, that a special bureau has been formed to disseminate the new knowledge that has come to light of the mystery of iodine. Iodine is the only perfect germicide. Yet a lack of it kills animals. Why? The uses and behaviour of this remarkable element are being more and more extensively studied as its importance in industry, agriculture and medicine are becoming recognized.

CONFERENCE COMMITTEE HAS APPROVED FULL EMPLOYMENT, PURPOSE OF ECONOMIC COUNCIL

SAN FRANCISCO. — Promise of "full employment," from which many of the United Nations have shied, was one step closer to getting into the world charter.

The conference committee has approved "full employment" as part of the purpose of the economic council. It now must go before a full commission meeting and then a plenary conference session.

Australia's foreign minister, Herbert V. Evatt, immediately announced Australia would fight for the promise of full employment. Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov told reporters that Russia would like to see the United Nations pledge "to all workers the right to work."

The Big Four finally agreed to send all the amendments on "full employment" to a drafting committee, which brought out this section:

"With a view to the creation of stability and well-being which are necessary for peaceful and friendly relations among nations based on respect for the principle of equal rights and self-determination of peoples, the organization shall promote:

"A. Higher standards of living, full employment and conditions of economic and social progress and development;

"B. Solutions of international economic, social, cultural, health and other related problems; and

"C. Universal respect for and observance of human rights, and fundamental freedom for all without restrictions as to race, language, religion or sex."

One of the knottiest problems of the United Nations conference—the place of regional associations in world security—was untangled when the Big Four foreign ministers agreed on the text of an amendment placing such groups under supervision of the proposed world organization.

State Secretary Settimus formally announced that agreements on regional arrangements had been reached by the United States, Britain, Russia, China and France. It provides for individual and collective self-defense action in case of armed attack until such time as the security council takes adequate measures to restore peace.

Demand For Speedy Trial Of War Criminals

LONDON. Amid rising criticism of the "codding" of German prisoners of war and demands for a speedy trial for top-flight war criminals, the United Nations war crimes commission announced that an international conference on German war crimes would begin in London May 31.

In Paris, Allied supreme headquarters told 10 man teams from the war crimes branch of the European theatre judge advocate section were conducting widespread investigation of crimes committed by the Nazis against Allied military personnel as well as civilians.

Clamor against the Allied treatment of German war criminals continued in the British press with the Evening Chronicle declaring that "public indignation is now hardening into public consternation."

"Remembering Darlan, remembering Badoglio," the editorial said, "the people are asking can it indeed be that the Allied authorities are preparing another and even more cynical frameup?"

The Daily Mirror complained about the "codding" of Willy Messerschmitt, once Germany's top plane designer who was brought to London four weeks ago to make his technical knowledge available to the Allies.

The Mirror said Field Marshal Erhard Milch, inspector general of the German air force, and Panzer Gen. Hasso Eckhardt Von Manteuffel are prisoners in a British camp at Luenburg, and it complained that they were living on champagne, eggs and custard.

"Getting food from the outside is in accordance with regulations," the newspaper said. "But the British troops guarding these two captured Nazis—and 62 other high-rankers—have to live on army rations."

FLYING CEILING

Proposal Is Made To Limit Ceiling Over Calgary

CALGARY.—Enactment of a city bylaw limiting the flying ceiling over Calgary to at least 1,000 feet was proposed to the city council by Ald. Brown. Present regulations and the city's authority to pass such regulations will be investigated by the legislative committee.

Action resulted from the tragic crash of the Mosquito bomber P. for Freddie in Calgary, when both the crew members were killed.

Ald. Brown felt veterans should neither be allowed nor asked to perform such feats for publicity purposes.

CONSIDERING PLAN

OTTAWA. Government officials are considering allowing wives of men in Canada's European occupation forces to join their husbands and set up temporary homes with them in Germany when the world shipping rights and self-determination of situation permits, it was learned here yesterday.

With a view to the creation of stability and well-being which are necessary for peaceful and friendly relations among nations based on respect for the principle of equal rights and self-determination of peoples, the organization shall promote:

"A. Higher standards of living, full employment and conditions of economic and social progress and development;

"B. Solutions of international economic, social, cultural, health and other related problems; and

One of the knottiest problems of the United Nations conference—the place of regional associations in world security—was untangled when the Big Four foreign ministers agreed on the text of an amendment placing such groups under supervision of the proposed world organization.

It provides for individual and collective self-defense action in case of armed attack until such time as the security council takes adequate measures to restore peace.

Operators will be able to resume routes and schedules previously restricted and to extend their routes to areas inadequately served, subject to course, to provincial regulations," said Mr. He.

The relaxations are in line with a policy begun last July, when the 50-mile limit on bus operation was removed, the minister said.

The newspaper added that the Queen Mary suffered only slight damage and had no casualties.

The Curacao was a cruiser of 8,700 tons.

CAPTURED Field Marshal Gerd von Rundstedt, until last March commander of the German forces on the western front, captured in a hospital at Bad Tölz, south of Munich.

RUSSIA'S GARDENS

Over Million Citizens Are Busy Seeding Plots Outside Moscow

MOSCOW. Great masses of Russian citizens have moved out from the cities to start spring planting in the Russian version of victory gardens. More than 1,750,000 citizens, carrying garden tools, lunch baskets and packages of seed which had been sent from the United States, left Moscow for fields outside the city where they had been allotted plots of ground.

NAVAL DISASTER

Sinking Of British Cruiser By The Liner Queen Mary

LONDON.—One of the worst naval disasters of the war was revealed—the sinking of the British cruiser Curacao by the liner Queen Mary Oct. 2, 1942, when she was carrying United States troops to Britain.

In thick fog the Queen Mary collided at right angles with the cruiser which was acting as escort. The cruiser was cut through, being carried a considerable distance with one half on each side of the giant liner.

In five minutes the Curacao had sunk. Rescue measures were swift, but there were 338 casualties of whom 27 were officers.

The disaster took place in the afternoon nearly 20 miles north of the foreland off the coast of Donegal in Eire.

According to the Daily Express, dependents of the men who lost their lives have made claims against the Cunard company, owners of the Queen Mary, for £750,000 (about $3,375,000). The case will come up in high court June 12. It will, the paper said, be an outstanding case in maritime history and may last several months as witnesses will have to come from all over the world.

The newspaper added that the Queen Mary suffered only slight damage and had no casualties.

The Curacao was a cruiser of 8,700 tons.

FIELD MARSHAL MONTGOMERY PAYS A FINE TRIBUTE TO THE FIGHTING MEN FROM CANADA

FORWARDING OF MAIL

To Liberated Prisoners Have Been Arranged

OTTAWA.—The post office department announced that arrangements have been made for the forwarding of mail to liberated prisoners of war in Europe.

Mail should give service numbers, ranks and names and bear the notation "Liberated prisoner of war, Canadian army or R.C.A.F., Royal Canadian Navy or Canadian Merchant Navy" overseas.

Letters and parcels for liberated prisoners should be prepared at the rate of postage applicable to mail for all members of the Canadian armed forces overseas. They will be subject to the same regulations regarding weight and size.

LIFT RESTRICTIONS

Bus Operators May Now Resume Regular Routes And Schedules

OTTAWA. Minister of Transport Howe announced that the transit controller's restrictions on the schedules and routes of bus operation have been removed to help meet the steadily-growing demand for public transportation.

Operators will be able to resume routes and schedules previously restricted and to extend their routes to areas inadequately served, subject to course, to provincial regulations," said Mr. He.

The relaxations are in line with a policy begun last July, when the 50-mile limit on bus operation was removed, the minister said.

RESTRICTIONS OFF

Penicillin May Now Be Distributed Through Commercial Channels

OTTAWA. Removal of all restrictions on the use and distribution of penicillin was announced by Minister of Health Howe. In March regulations covering penicillin had been relaxed to allow the drug to be distributed through commercial channels for approved purposes.

In his announcement Mr. Howe included a warning from the health department that the drug was not effective against all types of infection.

TORONTO.—Field Marshal Montgomery said in a broadcast message to Canada that "of all the soldiers that have fought under my command in this great war, none are finer than the fighting men from Canada."

"There may be some as good, but there are none finer," he added.

"It is my earnest desire that I may one day visit your great country—if you ask me. I have fought alongside your men in battle and have made many friends in the Canadian forces. I feel that I would like to see the country from which come these magnificent men."

"Your fighting men . . . are a true cross section of the people. They have fought under my command in Sicily in Italy and in western Europe. In knowing them I feel I know something of Canada."

"For the first time in history, Canada has put into the field an army of her own. I first met and got to know that army in 1941 when Gen. McNaughton was forging the weapons and right well did he job . . .

"Canada has not sent us only her soldiers, but sailors, airmen, nursing sisters and women in branches. All have come to lend a hand . . .

"You turned your country into a great arsenal of work shops and provided the means of war to the utmost of your capacity . . .

"We are now facing harder and more difficult tasks than we had to face in war. Given adequate resources, fighting the Germans was easy compared with the difficulties of organizing the world so that all men shall have peace and prosperity."

TRIALS STARTED

Four Types Of Crimes Listed Against Romanian War Criminals

LONDON.—The Bucharist radio said the final trials involving Romanian war crimes began before a people's tribunal, with 25 former high Romanian officials and officers among the accused. Four types of crimes were listed, those committed during the occupation of Russia, crimes committed against anti-Fascists, crimes against Russian prisoners and deportees and crimes against civilians on Russian territory.

MANY PRISONERS

Canadian Bomber Crews May Fly These Back To Canada

LONDON.—A move is afoot whereby Canadian bomber crews now in the United Kingdom will fly back to Canada some 360 Canadian-built Lancasters no longer needed here because of the end of the war in Europe—it is understood. While the plan has not yet been decided upon definitely, it is reported under discussion on the "highest possible" level in London and Ottawa.

SEVEN CANADIAN AVIATORS RELATE STORIES OF RUTHLESS MISTREATMENT BY JAPANESE

CALCUTTA Seven Canadian aviators

men and a Canadian army officer, now in India after their release from a Rangoon prison following the Burma capital's capture by British troops related stories of Japanese mistreatment.

The liberated men told of face-slapping by their Japanese guards, beatings during questioning and even of ruthless clubbing of one man's injured legs.

Two of the men—Flt. Lt. Kenneth Wheatley of Banff, Alta., and Flt. Lt. M. C. Haakenson, Berwyn, Alta.—were flown to India and sent to northeast India to a rest centre after hospital examination.

These other liberated men arrived by hospital ships: Flt. Lt. Herbert Ivens, Scott, Sask.; FO Keith Cuddy, Sanford, Man.; PO. John Yanota, Blairmore, Alta.; PO. Richard Corbett, Toronto; WO. R. W. Stephens, Windsor, Ont. The name of one other was withheld pending notification of next-of-kin.

Not strong enough to march with other prisoners removed by the Japanese from Rangoon central jail, these men were left to await arrival of Allied troops. It was they who painted a whitewash sign on the roof telling Allied airmen the enemy had gone.

Flt. Lt. Ivens was shot down last December and his legs were injured.

They were bandaged by his captors at first but when he reached the prison the bandages were removed and henceforth he received no medical attention and couldn't walk for two months.

He was interrogated frequently during this period and when he refused to answer his questioners they struck his swollen legs with clubs.

"They didn't get anything out of me because each time they hit I just passed out," he said.

Similar stories of beatings by questioners were told by Flt. Lt. Haakenson who said: "They weren't at all gentle. According to the rules, all information a prisoner can be required to give is his rank, name and number, but that wasn't enough for them. They had a man standing behind me with a club and when the answers didn't suit them I'd get a beating."

"Ever since the American raid on Tokyo in December, 1943, the Japanese have been tough on any fliers they captured. They are treated as ordinary criminals."

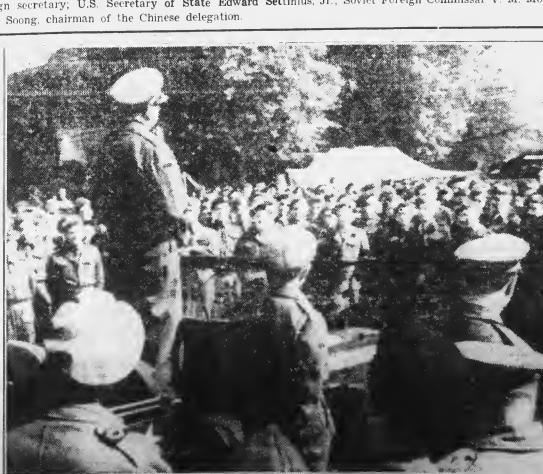

"The guards liked to act tough, always glaring and threatening. When a sentry passed the door of the cell I had to jump up, go to the door and bow. That went against the grain but I soon learned if I didn't make a bow I got a beating—so I did it."

APPEAR ON BALCONY—As London celebrated VE day uproariously, Prime Minister Winston Churchill appeared on the balcony at Buckingham Palace with the King and Queen. The King is shown waving at the cheering crowd.

BIG FOUR LEADERS—Leaders of the "Big Four" delegations at the United Nations world security conference in San Francisco, photographed together for the first time shortly after news was received of the Nazi capitulation in Holland, Denmark and northwest Germany. They are, left to right, Anthony Eden, Britain's foreign secretary; D.S. Edward Settimus, Jr., Soviet Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov, and T. V. Soong, chairman of the Chinese delegation.

THANKS HIS MEN—Grateful leader Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, of First Canadian Army, thanks men of his headquarters staff for their loyalty during the tremendous days between D-day and V-E day.

Real Social Security

or Rationed Scarcity?

To the political and economic reactionary, Social Security is something to be used as a bribe to win votes — a sop to soothe unrest. Social makeshifts of that kind are actually offered to-day as political substitutes for sound, economic planning for the post-war reconstruction of Canada.

To the State Socialist, on the other hand, Social Security is a bookish theory seeking to prove that poverty would be much more endurable if only it were much more general.

The Progressive Conservative Party is pledged to provide, without delay, a uniform and comprehensive social security programme for all Canadians, including:

✓ Extended unemployment insurance coverage.

✓ Adequate payments for the maintenance of unemployed.

✓ Accident and sickness benefits.

✓ Children's allowances.

✓ Maternity benefits.

✓ Widows' benefits.

✓ Retirement pensions.

✓ Increased old age pensions at age 65.

✓ Increased pensions for the blind.

We are determined that Social Security shall no longer be regarded as a charity but as what it is—a social obligation and national responsibility of the very first magnitude and importance. Social Security must grow with prosperity—because the degree to which social services may be provided is determined by the size of the national income. We are pledged to maintain that income at a high prosperous level. It is against this background of plenty for all, that the Progressive Conservatives see Social Security.

Where any of these social services are administered provincially, we shall provide grants large enough to ensure adequate standards of social security for all Canadians.

Compare this positive and complete programme with the make-shift expedients of other parties. No other party can equal or even approach John Bracken's guarantee of security for all Canadians.

It's rational security—NOT rationed scarcity.
